

Eric Marden, born 1959 in Waterville Maine Came to the Boothbay Region as a third generation Ocean Point boy, the youngest of four children. He was the product of the Maine vocational/technical education system, graduating from Central Maine Technical Institute, in 1980. He headed for the coast to practice his trade, establishing Marden and Wyman Builders, morphing into Marden Builders Inc. in 1995. He and his wife, Jennifer, have raised two daughters in the Boothbay region, and are blessed to have them, their spouses and grandchildren living nearby. To this day, he enjoys the challenges of the construction industry, all the interesting people, and his love of the sea.
